Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation/Reference:

To create a security policy for the users that would ensure that all users can access all files on the servers and if a server is stolen the operating system and the files on the servers become inaccessible, you need to use Windows BitLocker Drive Encryption (BitLocker).

BitLocker allows you to encrypt all data stored on the Windows operating system volume and use the security of using a Trusted Platform Module (TPM) that helps protect user data and to ensure that a computer running Windows Server Vista or Server 2008 has not been tampered with while the system was offline. In addition, BitLocker offers the option to lock the normal startup process until the user supplies a personal identification number (PIN) or inserts a removable USB device, such as a flash drive, that contains a startup key. This process will ensure that all the users can access all files on the servers if they have the PIN.
