NEW QUESTION: 4

Which of the following division is defined in the TCSEC (Orange Book) as minimal protection?

- A. Division B
- B. Division A
- C. Division C
- D. Division D

Answer: D

Explanation:

The criteria are divided into four divisions: D, C, B, and A ordered in a hierarchical manner with the highest division (A) being reserved for systems providing the most comprehensive security.

Each division represents a major improvement in the overall confidence one can place in the system for the protection of sensitive information.

Within divisions C and B there are a number of subdivisions known as classes. The classes are also ordered in a hierarchical manner with systems representative of division C and lower classes of division B being characterized by the set of computer security mechanisms that they possess.

Assurance of correct and complete design and implementation for these systems is gained mostly through testing of the security-relevant portions of the system. The security-relevant portions of a system are referred to throughout this document as the Trusted Computing Base (TCB).

Systems representative of higher classes in division B and division A derive their security attributes more from their design and implementation structure. Increased assurance that the required features are operative, correct, and tamperproof under all circumstances is gained through progressively more rigorous analysis during the design process.

TCSEC provides a classification system that is divided into hierarchical divisions of assurance levels:

Division D - minimal security

Division C - discretionary protection

Division B - mandatory protection

Division A - verified protection
