NEW QUESTION: 3

What two items are required for customer invoicing?

A. Lockbox

B. Customer Profile Classes

C. Remit-to address

D. Customers

Answer: C,D

Explanation:

B: A customer is a party, either an organization or a person, with whom you have a selling relationship. This selling relationship can result, for example, from the purchase of products and services or from the negotiation of terms and conditions that provide the basis for future purchases. You create customers to properly record and account for sales transactions, as well as to identify other attributes of the selling relationship. Recording a sales transaction requires that a customer, stored as a party in Oracle Fusion Trading Community Model, has both an account and an account site with a bill-to purpose.

C: The remit-to address lets your customers know where to send payment for their open debit items. After you create a remit-to address, you can assign it to the bill-to addresses of the customers and customer sites that you designate by country and, if applicable, by region and postal code range.

During the import process, AutoInvoice rejects all invoices for which it cannot determine a remit-to address. In order for AutoInvoice to import an invoice, you must either define a remit-to address for the geographical location of each applicable bill-to site or define a remit-to address to use as default for one or more locations.
