NEW QUESTION: 1

You have an unsecured wireless network for users to connect to from their personal Windows 10 devices. You need to prevent Wi-Fi Sense from sharing information about the unsecured wireless network. What should you do?

- A. Configure the SSID of the unsecured wireless to contain_optout.
- B. Instruct the users to turn off Network Discovery on their devices.
- C. Configure the SSID of the guest wireless to be hidden.
- D. Instruct the users to disable Internet Protocol Version 6 (TCP/IPv6) on their wireless network adapters.

Answer: A

Explanation:

<http://www.zdnet.com/article/how-to-protect-your-wireless-network-from-wi-fi-sense/>

If you have an open network at your home or small business and you want to make sure Wi-Fi Sense doesn't automatically connect Wi-Fi Sense customers to it, change the name of your network to add _optout to the name of your network. For example, you could change your network name from "my_network" to "my_network_optout".

It can take several days for your network to be added to the opted-out list for Wi-Fi Sense, so Wi-Fi Sense customers might still be automatically connected to it for a while after you add _optout to the name. If you want to stop Wi-Fi Sense from connecting customers to it sooner than that, add a password to your Wi-Fi network. For instructions about how to change your network name or add a password, check the documentation for your router or access point.

NEW QUESTION: 2

Your company has an Active Directory domain. A server named Server1 runs Windows Server 2008 R2. The Remote Desktop Services server role and the RD Web Access role service are installed on Server1.

You install the RD Gateway role service on Server1. You create the Remote Desktop connection authorization policy. Users report that they cannot connect to Server1.

You need to ensure that users can connect to Server1.

What should you do?

- A. Create a Remote Desktop Group Policy object (GPO). Enable the Set path for Remote Desktop Services Roaming User Profile setting on the GPO. Create an organization unit (OU) named RDSUsers. Link the GPO to the RDSUsers OU.
- B. Create a Remote Desktop Group Policy object (GPO). Enable the Allow log on through Remote Desktop Services setting on the GPO. Link the GPO to the domain.
- C. Configure Network Access Protection (NAP) on Server1.

D. Configure the Remote Desktop Resource Authorization Policy (RD RAP) on Server1.

Answer: D

Explanation:

Remote Desktop resource authorization policies (RD RAPs) allow you to specify the internal network resources (computers) that remote users can connect to through an RD Gateway server. Remote users connecting to the network through an RD Gateway server are granted access to computers on the internal network if they meet the conditions specified in at least one RD CAP and one RD RAP.

When you associate an RD Gateway-managed computer group with an RD RAP, you can support both fully qualified domain names (FQDNs) and NetBIOS names by adding both names to the RD Gateway-managed computer group separately. When you associate an Active Directory security group or an RD Session Host server farm with an RD RAP, both FQDNs and NetBIOS names are supported automatically if the internal network computer that the client is connecting to belongs to the same domain as the RD Gateway server. If the internal network computer belongs to a different domain than the RD Gateway server, users must specify the FQDN of the internal network computer.

NEW QUESTION: 3

The company and the company network have both been growing rapidly. Multiple adds, moves and changes have been applied to the network. Your boss has asked you to troubleshoot a recent OSPF synchronization problem that has arisen. There have been synchronization problems at separate locations in the OSPF area 0. There have been reported link failures during the rapid growth of the company network. You are required to resolve the OSPF problem. OSPF must be able to converge when the network changes.

Refer to the information above to answer the following question.

The log of dl reports the following: This event was anticipated due to maintenance; however, it resulted in excessive lost routes. Which route should be the only one removed from the routing tables of the routers?

- A. 8.187.175.82/32
- B. None of the above
- C. 10.201.0.0/30
- D. 10.138.43.0/30
- E. 4.249.113.59/32
- F. 10.206.180.0/30

Answer: C

Explanation:

From the log we learn that the link of Interface Fa0/1 has been down. This link belongs to network 10.201.0.0/30 so we just need to remove this route from the routing table.
