NEW QUESTION: 1

Oracle Cloud Infrastructure Autonomous Data

Warehouse

A. $\frac{1}{4}$ of the total capacity is reserved for the database.

B. The database is automatically scaled based on the number of CPU cores.

C. The database is automatically scaled based on the number of memory GBs.

D. The database is automatically scaled based on the number of I/O operations per second.

Answer: B

Explanation:

Explanation

Oracle Autonomous Data Warehouse is a cloud data warehouse service that eliminates virtually all the complexities of operating a data warehouse and securing data. It automates provisioning, configuring, securing, tuning, scaling, patching, backing up, and repairing of the data warehouse. Unlike other "fully managed" cloud data warehouse solutions that only patch and update the service, it also features elastic, automated scaling, performance tuning, security, and a broad set of built-in capabilities that enable machine learning analysis, simple data loading, and data visualizations.

Data Warehouse uses continuous query optimization, table indexing, data summaries, and auto-tuning to ensure consistent high performance even as data volume and number of users grows. Autonomous scaling can temporarily increase compute and I/O by a factor of three to maintain performance. Unlike other cloud services which require downtime to scale, Autonomous Data Warehouse scales while the service continues to run.
