NEW QUESTION: 4

Note: This question is part of a series of questions that present the same scenario. Each question in the series contains a unique solution that might meet the stated goals. Some question sets might have more than one correct solution, while others might not have a correct solution.

After you answer a question in this scenario, you will NOT be able to return to it. As a result, these questions will not appear in the review screen.

You are developing a solution that will use Azure Stream Analytics. The solution will accept an Azure Blob storage file named Customers. The file will contain both in-store and online customer details. The online customers will provide a mailing address.

You have a file in Blob storage named LocationIncomes that contains median incomes based on location. The file rarely changes.

You need to use an address to look up a median income based on location. You must output the data to Azure SQL Database for immediate use and to Azure Data Lake Storage Gen2 for long-term retention.

Solution: You implement a Stream Analytics job that has two streaming inputs, one query, and two outputs.

Does this meet the goal?

A. No

B. Yes

Answer: A

Explanation:

Explanation

We need one reference data input for LocationIncomes, which rarely changes Note: Stream Analytics also supports input known as reference data. Reference data is either completely static or changes slowly.
