NEW QUESTION: 2

Identify three purposes of Functional Setup Manager. (Choose three.)

- A. assigns setup tasks to individuals with due dates where users manually update their completion status

B. centrally manages close processes across subledgers and ledgers

C. provides a central place to access and perform all setup steps across the applications

D. automatically generates lists of setup tasks in the correct sequence with dependencies highlighted

E. automatically marks the status of tasks as Completed when they are completed

Answer: A,C,D

Explanation:

Explanation:

E: Implementation projects have the correct list of setup tasks for you to assign to the appropriate individuals for execution. You can monitor the progress of the setup data entry using the Overview page.

You can specify due dates for completing the assigned tasks, which is recommended since due dates will help you monitor the progress of the task assignments, which in turn will determine the progress of the overall implementation project. You can assign a single individual or multiple individuals to a setup task. If you assign multiple people to a task, then the same due date can be assigned to each person, or each assigned individual can have a different due date. Each individual is able to perform the task independently of the others. You can reassign tasks, and specify a new due date at any time.

C: The auto-generated list of tasks for implementing any offering is self-contained. It includes all tasks, including the prerequisites, needed to complete implementation of any given offering. The task list gives you full visibility to the end-to-end setup requirements. By having a complete task list self-contained within the implementation of each offering, dependencies on any particular order needed for offerings implementation are eliminated and you can decide how best to manage the implementation according to your business needs.
